

Welcome,

First and foremost, please allow us to thank you for choosing Twin Cities Hospital for your medical care. You have given us the opportunity to honor your sacred trust of providing for your health, and we will do our very best to send you home thinking “WOW—that is an Extraordinary Hospital”. We want you to be as comfortable as possible while you are staying with us. It is our goal to remove the fears and discomforts of being away from your home. Simple things such as dietary and housekeeping can make your time here less stressful.

Twin Cities and every living soul in it, strive to be the best community hospital possible. Our staff physicians are all top notch doctors and every employee, including myself, is committed to the single purpose of serving your healthcare needs at the highest attainable level of excellence. Together, our physicians and hospital employees are committed to you and your family.

If you need assistance with any particular need, please do not be shy—tell your nurse or tell us. There are a few key phone number extensions that may be beneficial to have while you are staying with us.
